

Conversations with the Community:
*Afro Eccentricity: Beyond the Standard Narrative of Black Religion

Sponsored by UNCG's African American Studies Program

Tuesday, February 21st, 2012

6:00 pm

Petty Bldg Room 136

Discussion led by:

Dr. William D. Hart

“Relations among racial identity, political commitment, and religious diversity among African Americans”

Contact afs@uncg.edu for more information

William David Hart is professor of religious studies at the University of North Carolina Greensboro. He is a critical theorist of religion whose interests encompass religion, ethics and politics, as well as African American religious thought. His latest book is Afro-Eccentricity: Beyond the Standard Narrative of Black Religion.

Department of Religious Studies