

The African American Studies Program Presents
A Conversation with the Community
The Impact of Dr. John Hope Franklin on American History Curriculum
Co-Sponsored by The Department of History

Tuesday, September 8th, 2009

at

6pm

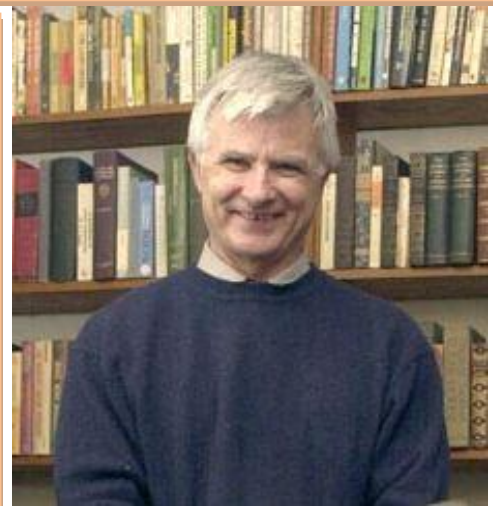

Elliott University Center, UNCG

Joyner Room

Discussion lead by

Dr. Loren Schweningen,

UNCG History Department

Please contact us by phone 334-5507
or
Email: AFS@uncg.edu

Courtesy of Simmie Knox and the Duke University Archives. Please direct any questions about usage to the Duke University Archives

Dr. Franklin, who recently passed away, is regarded as a premier scholar of African American history. His groundbreaking texts, From Slavery to Freedom (published in 1947) and the Emancipation Proclamation, are still referenced in American history classrooms.