

Hello,

I am the director of Camp Lakey Gap, a residential camp for people with autism in Black Mountain, North Carolina. I am in the process of hiring camp counselors for the upcoming summer season. Most of my staff are students studying subjects like psychology, special education, occupational therapy, or speech therapy. We can support internships, and work with the students requirements. Your students will work 1:1 with at least 7-10 campers over the summer, and also be exposed to the 120 campers that will attend over the whole summer.

Over the years, I have gotten many wonderful staff with the assistance of professors and department chairs who were willing to pass on this job opportunity to their students. Some professors have even posted it in their departments student newsletter!

Thank you for any assistance you can give me, you and your students can learn more about our program at www.christmount.org/camplakeygap
