

TS: Amy
From: SMART
Date: 10/1/08

Since 1957, the Student Conservation Association's mission has been to engage young people in hands on service to the land in hopes of building the next generation of conservation leaders. Over 50 years and 50,000 members later, SCA remains fully committed to this purpose.

In the last year alone, SCA had nearly 2,000 students and young adults participate in conservation internships all over the country. An additional 11,000 people expressed an interest in obtaining a position with SCA. Without your support we would never be able to achieve these results.

SCA puts the future of conservation in your students' hands. With internships available in all 50 states in over 50 disciplines, SCA provides a myriad of opportunities for anyone interested in conserving our natural and cultural resources. Please review our enclosed view-book for a summary of our primary disciplines along with a sampling of possible position offerings. For the most comprehensive list of positions, in-depth information about our organization and programs, and online and downloadable versions of the application, please visit our website at www.thesca.org.

In the upcoming year SCA will visit over 100 higher education institutions, lead service events, and teach over 3,000 volunteers leadership and outdoor skills. We will also continue to advocate for national service and the need for conservation. In fact, this year SCA will be an active advocate for ServiceNation- a national coalition seeking to launch a new era in citizen service.

SCA continues to be the Nation's leading provider of conservation service opportunities. Your continued support of your students and our mission has made it possible for SCA and our partners to build the next generation of conservation leaders. Thank you very much for your continued commitment to SCA.

Best regards,

Patty Holland
National Director of Admissions
SCA

Celebrating 50 Years of Students Conserving America

Charlestown, NH • Boise, ID • Houston, TX • Oakland, CA • Pittsburgh, PA • Seattle, WA • Washington, DC
thesca.org

For more information
and to apply, visit:
thesca.org

Student Conservation Association
PO Box 550 • 689 River Road
Charlestown, NH 03603
603.543.1700

