

The University of North Carolina at Greensboro presents the 1st Annual Girls in Sport Symposium

Sponsored by

The Center for Women’s Health and Wellness

& the Department of Exercise and Sport Science

On Friday, February 20, 2009

8:30 a.m.-1:00 p.m. in the Elliott University Center Auditorium (on the UNCG campus)

*Free parking reserved for symposium participants in the Oakland Ave parking deck (off Spring Garden St)

The symposium seeks to enhance the ability of teachers, coaches and community leaders who teach and coach girls and young women, to promote their positive development through sport and physical activity on the field, on the court, in the arena, in the studio and in schools.

This year’s keynote is

Dr. Maureen Weiss, Co-Director of the

Tucker Center for Research on Girls & Women in Sport at the University of Minnesota

The symposium will also include panel discussions by coaches, teachers and community leaders as well as female athletes of all participation levels.

The cost of the symposium is:

- ✓ $20 for teachers , coaches and community professionals
- ✓ $10 for undergraduate and graduate students
- ✓ $35 after February 6, 2009 and on-site registration (for everyone)

Questions?
 Please email or call
 Dr. Donna Duffy
dmduffy@uncg.edu or 336-334-3025

Please complete the form below and mail-in your registration and payment check (payable to UNCG) to:

Dr. Donna Duffy, Girls in Sport Symposium

401 HHP Building, Walker Avenue, UNCG, Greensboro, NC 27402

Name _____

Email address _____

School affiliation and title/position _____