

I-House Frequently Asked Questions

General Questions:

Who is eligible to live in the I-House?

Any student who has an interest in all things international is eligible.

What are the benefits of living in the I-House?

I-House is a good place for students who want the experience of living among students from all over the world, having close interaction with University faculty and staff. Students will have the opportunity to interact with someone from a place they never knew existed or perhaps only knew through the eyes of CNN. Students will develop lasting friendships with people from all corners of the world.

How do I apply to live in the I-House?

1. Go to <http://www.uncg.edu/rli/> and select the appropriate semester to complete the on-line application.
2. Complete the I-House On-Line Application form (click Application Process on the I-House main page).

Is participation in the scheduled events mandatory?

Participation in events is not mandatory, but is strongly encouraged if you wish to be a part of the international experience. Everyone is welcome and invited to attend.

May I choose my own roommate?

We would like for there to be one American student and one international student in each room. This helps both students to connect with a member of another culture. Two Americans in the same room is strongly discouraged.
