

Political Science 290
Politics of the Non-Western World
Fall 2007
Prof. Griffiths

Office: 222 Graham
Office Hours: MWF 10-11
Phone: 256-0518
Email: rjgriffi@uncg.edu

“Try to imagine at least once a day that you are not an American. Go even further: try to imagine at least once a day that you belong to the vast, the overwhelming majority of people on this planet who don’t have passports, don’t live in dwellings equipped with both refrigerators and telephones, who have never even once flown in a plane.”

Susan Sontag, author & social critic

“Every morning, our newspapers could report ‘More than 20,000 people perished yesterday of extreme poverty.’ “

Jeffrey Sachs, The End of Poverty

The purpose of this class is to acquaint students with the processes and problems associated with modernization and development in the non-western world. The focus of the class is on the countries of Africa, Asia(excluding China), the Middle East, and Latin America. The goal of the course is to make students more aware of the challenges facing the developing world and provide a better understanding of the complex nature of those challenges.

After taking this course students will be able to do the following:

- recognize the formidable challenges that face the developing world
- understand the origins and scope of the problems confronting developing countries
- comprehend the complexity of the factors that create these problems
- realize the global implications of lagging and uneven development
- identify the differences in perspective between industrialized and developing countries
- assess prospects for political, economic, and social progress in developing countries

Texts: Annual Editions: Developing World 07/08; Politics & Culture in the Developing World, 2nd Edition by Richard J. Payne & Jamal R. Nassar. Students are also required to read The New York Times or The Economist on a regular basis.

Requirements: There will be a mid-term exam and a final, as well as short quizzes that will deal with current events and the assigned reading, especially the Annual Editions articles. Students will also be responsible for a 5-6 page profile of a developing country. Details on the profile will be provided in a separate hand-out. Finally, students must also submit an 8-10 page research paper on a topic of their choice. The research paper and the profile may not be on the same topic. Research topics must be discussed with me before beginning the research. This should take place no later than 8/31/07. A one-page draft of your paper introduction and thesis with a preliminary bibliography is due 9/7/07. Failure to meet this deadline will result in a five-point penalty on your final grade. The paper will be due 10/29/07. Late papers will be penalized 2 points per day. Electronic submissions of assignments are not allowed without prior permission. Late assignments will not be accepted after the last day of class. Class participation is encouraged and may help your final grade. Attendance is essential if you expect to do well in the class.

Assignments: Dates are approximate.

Weeks of

8/20-8/27- Introduction and Dimensions of Development Problems. Payne & Nassar, ch. 1,4,5;
Annual Editions, #1-4.

9/3- Colonialism and Independence. Payne & Nassar, ch. 3.

9/10- Development Perspectives. Payne & Nassar, ch. 6, ch. 7 pgs. 148-165; Annual Editions, #5.
9/17-9/24- International Political Economy. Payne & Nassar, ch. 7, pgs. 148-165;
Annual Editions, #6-18.
10/1-10/8- Population, Resources, Environment & Health. Payne & Nassar, ch. 7 pgs. 166-173;
Annual Editions, #36-42.
10/22- Women and Development. Payne & Nassar, ch. 8; Annual Editions, #43-47.
10/29- The Role of Religion. Payne & Nassar, ch. 2; Annual Editions, #28.
11/5-11/12- Conflict and Instability. Payne & Nassar, ch. 12; Annual Editions, #19-26.
11/19-11/26- Political Change. Payne & Nassar, ch. 10, 11, 9; Annual Editions, #27, 29-35.
12/3- Summary and Conclusion.