Dr. Paula Fredriksen is A. William Goodwin Aurelio Professor of the Appreciation of Scripture at Boston University. She received her Ph.D. from Princeton University and has taught at Stanford, UC Berkeley, and the University of Pittsburgh. Professor Fredriksen specializes in the social and intellectual history of ancient Christianity, from the Late Second Temple period to the fall of the Western Roman Empire. Besides her books on Augustine (Augustine on Romans, 1982) and on Jesus and Christian tradition (From Jesus to Christ: The Origins of the New Testament Images of Jesus, 1988), she has written extensively on conversion, apocalypticism, Paul and his interpreters, and Jewish/Gentile relations in Late Antiquity. In 1999 she received a national Jewish Book Award for her most recent publication, Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews: A Jewish Life and the Emergence of Christianity (Knopf).
